

Team Reflection After Meeting

After writing up all our individual reflections on teamwork, the team met and discussed what we wrote down individually. It was interesting to be able to note common themes amongst the feedback for each of us and finding good pointers on areas for improvement. For overall teamwork, we talked about how we could have better task management, delegation, and scheduling to ensure getting work done well and on-time. We also discussed how communication amongst the group could be improved and having a group of 5 may have made this more difficult compared to having a smaller group. That being said, we agreed that overall, we had an enjoyable experience working with each other and could work on trying to improve our project in the future.
